Sunday Reflection ~ the power of faith

Biblical faith is a complete trust in the trustworthy God who is there and who is not silent. We see in today's Gospel how faith took Jairus from a life of fear to peace. We see how faith took the woman with the haemorrhage from a life of suffering to healing. In both cases, their circumstances were beyond their control. Both reached a breaking point. Both were desperate for help beyond what this world could offer. When Jesus came walking by, they came to Him, trusting Him for something everyone else was powerless to do. That's the beginning of biblical faith - simply looking at Jesus as One who can help and coming to Jesus for that help. But often it takes overwhelming circumstances before we're ready to come.

The first step of biblical faith is actually a negative one. It's becoming desperate enough to come to Jesus. It's letting go of pride. It's saying to yourself, finally, 'I just don't have what it takes. I can't do this. I need help. But I need the kind of help this world can't offer. I need supernatural help.' That's the first movement of faith, But it's not the last. Circumstances summon faith, which is our second point.

There is a way of touching Jesus without really touching Him. A lot of people touched Jesus that day in that crowd, but only the woman got His power after the touch. So, what unlocks His power? Just this: personal need of a saviour and the empty hands of faith. That's all this woman had. And that's all she needed. So many in the crowd that day were just excited about what Jesus might do for others. This woman was desperate for what He could do for her. That's the difference. It's the difference between Jesus as spectacle and seeing Jesus as Saviour. Until you understand your personal need for Jesus, His power will be withheld from you. But when you come to Him with the empty hands of faith, desperate for salvation, His power races toward you.
